Three Marion County Towns To Build Waterworks Plants

BROKEN TANKER SURVIVORS REACH PORT. Fourteen of the 18 frightened but happy survivors of an Argentine tanker which broke in half in the Atlantic are brought to Norfolk, Va., by the Coast Guard cutter Cherokee which rescued them. The seamen were aboard the El Capitan when it broke in two in rough seas last Sunday off Cape Hatteras. Sixteen of the sailors were saved by the Cherokee from the fore part of the broken vessel, two others from the stern section 30 hours later by the Coast Guard cutter Agassiz.

Ohio Cities Will Ask Bigger Sales Tax Cut

COLUMBUS, Dec. 30—(AP)—Ohio cities, badly squeezed financially by soaring costs again will demand a bigger slice of state sales tax revenues in 1949.

They also want a more equitable distribution of state poor relief funds and a more equitable law on railroad grade crossing eliminations (cities once paid 35 per cent of the cost but the last legislature changed this so the state foots 85 per cent of the bill).

Those were the three major planks in a legislative program recommended last night by the taxation and finance committee of the Ohio Association of Municipalities. The program will be presented to the association at its general session today and probably will be approved without change. The new legislature meets Monday.

The state now distributes $27,500,000 each year to local governments, excluding such items as school aid. Of this money $15,000,000 comes from sales tax, $10,000,000 from a so-called bank deposit tax, and $500,000 from cigaret dealer licenses.

Want 30 Per Cent Cut

The cities propose that the legislature grant local governments 30 per cent of the net sales tax revenues and continue the other distributions as at present. Mayor Charles Slusser of Akron, president of the association, estimated the state now returns about 10 per cent of sales tax collections to local governments.

"There's only one reason why the state has such a tremendous surplus—it's taking the money away from local governments," Slusser told a reporter. "While this is going on, local government expenses have climbed 75 per cent since 1940. That's why we're always down here crying for more money."

"Actually," he continued, "we don't care whether the money comes from the sales tax, or what—just so we get about $24,000,000 more a year."

The committee also proposed that the state pay 75 per cent instead of half of local relief costs. It had another plan, too—that the present poor relief payments to counties be distributed on the basis of 50 per cent for relief expenditures during the previous fiscal year and 50 per cent on the basis of population.

Seek Population Basis

Slusser said that at present each county shares equally in funds collected through a 65 hundredths of a cent tax on utilities.

"One of our larger counties ran $300,000 short on this item last year," he said, "while some rural counties had $200,000 surpluses. All we're asking is that the money should be spent where relief requirements make the demand."

Another likely "hot potato" recommendation of the committee is one asking for an amendment of statutory methods of utility valuations for rate-making purposes. Present Ohio laws permits valuation on the basis of current replacement cost. Most states make property depreciation a mandatory item in figuring valuations.

Other recommendations:

That the majority required on bond issues at special or primary elections be redeemed from 65 to 60 per cent.

That only a bare majority instead of 65 per cent be required for approval of bond issues at a November election.

That only a majority instead of 65 per cent be required for operating and permanent improvement tax levies at a November election.

That a commission be created by the legislature to make a study of the state tax setup.

That the present off-street parking law be amended to permit cities to lease, rent or buy property for parking lots without being forced to sell it at the end of two years.

ARRESTED AS ASSASSIN. Abdel Hamid Ahmed Hassan (center), 21, veterinary college student who Cairo, Egypt police said assassinated Prime Minister Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrasky Pasha, is held by police after his arrest. At right is Col. Ibraham Bey, chief of Arab affairs police department. Police said the student was a member of the ardent nationalist association, the Moslem Brotherhood.

LA RUE LATEST TO TAKE ACTION ON PROJECTS

Prospect and Caledonia Also Have Plans Under Way; Total Cost $550,000.

More than $550,000 is slated to be spent by three Marion county villages in 1949 for construction of municipal waterworks.

Action last night by the LaRue village council to sell $140,000 in mortgage revenue bonds, launched a $200,000 project scheduled to be completed about this time next year.

The village council in Prospect last week enacted legislation to construct and operate a $225,000 waterworks system and Caledonia which took similar action earlier in the year is preparing to receive bids Jan. 6 on construction of an $117,000 water system.

Engineering plans for all three projects are in charge of Paul Elwell, a Cleveland construction engineer.

LaRue has been considering construction of a municipal waterworks for a number of years but had been unable to reach a final decision in view of current high construction costs. A Columbus engineering firm had been retained to prepare estimates on a LaRue project last year but plans then advanced were found to be too costly and proposals temporarily shelved.

Offers LaRue Plan

When it was learned however that Caledonia had been able to obtain plans and specifications for a project within financial possibility, Mr. Elwell was offered a chance to submit estimates for a LaRue system.

His services likewise were retained by Prospect, inasmuch as all three villages faced similar problems in respect to financial limitations.

The system at LaRue will derive its water supply from driven wells. At least three will be sunk and operated by electrically operated 750 gallon per minute capacity pumps. Water pressure for the system will be provided through a 180,000 gallon elevated tank.

Location of the plant has not yet been determined, Mayor Jack Davis indicated today. Three sites are under consideration at this time, he said. In addition to pumping and storage facilities, the plant will include filtration equipment for removal of mineral traces in the water.

System of Mains

The system of mains will include approximately 25,000 feet of pipe varying from the eight-inch mains to the two-inch laterals. Fire protection will be afforded through installation of 42 hydrants, the mayor reported.

Water rate will run to $33 per year to the average user when the system goes into operation. It is expected that the village will be ready to advertise for bids on the construction contract by March 1 and hopes to have water in the mains by January, 1950, Mr. Davis indicated.

Method of Financing

The project will be financed through mortgage revenue bonds and the special assessment bonds. Council last night authorized sale of $140,000 of mortgage revenue bonds with the balance of $60,000 to be derived through special assessment. Retirement schedule calls for 35 years on the revenue bonds and 20 on the special assessment.

Unless taxpayers file protest within the 30-day period required by law and initiate legal action to require the project be submitted to referendum, the program should go through without delay, Mr. Davis indicated.

The engineer, he reported, was confident that estimates were such that bids could be obtained despite the fluctuating costs of construction.

The $225,000 project in Prospect is set up similar to those at LaRue and Caledonia, in respect to financing. The Prospect council sold $155,000 in mortgage revenue bonds with $70,000 to be obtained from special assessment.

The Prendergast-Fahey company, of New York, took the issues of all three villages.

Freight and Auto Collide at Crossing on Morrow Co. Highway.

A New York Central freight train struck and injured four persons in a car driven by Frank C. Otrembra of Canton at 11:45 a. m. yesterday on State route 529, now temporary route 42, near Cardington, highway patrolmen reported.

The car was headed west when struck by a south bound train, demolishing the car and injuring the four passengers, Mrs. Sarah Otrembra, 27, wife of the driver, suffered bruises, scalp wounds and an ankle fracture. Her son, Barri B. Otrembra, 2, suffered bruises. Levinia McThrall, 58, suffered a cut on her face and body bruises and Frank C. Otrembra, suffered bruises and a broken wrist. All are from Canton. The engineer was Gerald E. Moorehead, 59, of Bucyrus. The injured were treated by a Mt. Gilead physician.

Bus In Accident

A Greyhound bus, driven by Jack Dempsey, 49, of Pittsburgh, Pa., struck a telephone pole at 7 p. m. yesterday on route 30, north, two miles east of Bucyrus. None of the 33 passengers were injured. The rear of the bus was slightly damaged. The driver was arrested for reckless operation and will appear for a hearing at Bucyrus tomorrow.

At 6 p. m. a dump truck driven by Robert H. Giesige, 23, of Shelby, was headed east on route 30 when a rear wheel came off. There were no injuries.

Cars driven by Alwood A. Prescott, 44, of Akron and Sgt. J. C. Williams, 29, collided at 7:15 p. m. on route 30 north, 1½ miles east of Bucyrus. Sergeant Williams had one passenger, Miss Helen M. Weaver, of Bucyrus. There were no injuries and only slight damage to the vehicles. Williams was arrested on a charge of reckless operation and fined $5 on cost by the mayor of Bucyrus at 10 p. m.

A state truck driven by Garold Andrews, 37, of 742 North State street, Marion, was parked on route 30 south three miles east of Caledonia, when it was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Cloyd e Pearl Beringer, 44, of 475 Silver street, Marion, at 6 a. m. Mrs. Beringer saw the truck lights, but she couldn't stop on the ice. She turned and damaged the rear of her car. The truck was undamaged.

Horace McClenathan, 26, of Ashley, was arrested at 3:30 p. m. yesterday for a stop sign violation. He was fined $5 by the mayor of Cardington at 3:45 p. m.

Forrestal Asks More Power Over Services

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Forrestal set the stage today for a possible new fight in congress with his plea for greater power over the nation's armed services.

At the same time, the cabinet officer declared this country must help re-arm non-Communist Europe even though the cost "may necessitate hard decisions by our people."

For itself, the United States "is less vulnerable today" than it was when the Army, Navy and Air Force were unified a year ago last September, Forrestal said.

But he added that this is not enough: "we must do all in our power to re-create the confidence and hope of Europe."

Forrestal did not say what "hard decisions" he had in mind. But plainly he meant the possibility of higher taxes and more shortages at home while more American dollars and goods are poured into the dike being erected against Russian Communist aggression.

First Annual Report

His first annual report, made public last night, was devoted largely to a review of the military establishment under his direction, together with recommendations to the White House for changes in the unification law.

But it was spiced by a terse but intriguing notation that military scientists are working on an "earth satellite vehicle program"—perhaps a man-made moon from which great destruction might be heaped on any threatening nation.

The chief, but not unexpected, recommendation from Forrestal was that the unification act be amended to give the defense secretary more direct authority over the three armed services.

Without referring directly to the bitter feud between the Air Force and Navy over long range bombing and super-carriers, Forrestal said there have been "many arguments and disagreements." And, he added, "there are still great areas in which the viewpoints of the services have not come together."

Wants More Power

He left no doubt he wants to be able to tell the services to get together—and make his order stick.

Another Forrestal recommendation—creation of the post of undersecretary who, as "alter ego" to the secretary, would become the acting chief of the military establishment in the absence of the secretary—also paralleled a recommendation of the Hoover committee.

Forrestal steered away from another subject certain to arouse wrath in congress—federalization of the ground National Guard. He didn't go along with the proposal of a special advisory committee for federal control of the state military organizations. He did, however, recommend federalization of the Air National Guard.

JEWS EXPECT NEGEV WAR TO END TODAY

TEL AVIV, Dec. 30—(UP)—A spokesman for the Israeli foreign office said today that fighting in the Negev probably would be ended by the time the United Nations security council's cease-fire order reached the Israeli government.

The official order is expected to arrive some time today. By the time it arrives "there will be no cause for firing," the spokesman said.

Maintaining the censorship on the battle of the Negev, the military spokesman said the situation there was practically unchanged, and all other sectors were quiet.

Jewish military circles said the week-old Negev battle was successful. These sources indicated most Jewish objectives had been attained.

Reports from Cairo said the Jews had attempted to make a wide sweeping encirclement movement around the Egyptian right flank in the Negev. The attempt was defeated the Egyptian report said.

Reports that a Jewish force had driven 25 miles inside Egypt, coming within seven miles of El Arish on the Mediterranean coastal road, were denied in an Israeli spokesman. He did not elaborate on the denial.

DANIELS DENIED CLEMENCY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 30—(AP)—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert declined today to interfere with the electrocution of Robert M. Daniels, 24, who is scheduled to die Jan. 3 for a triple slaying. The governor, in refusing executive clemency, said he followed the recommendation of the state pardon and parole commission.

LONDON, Dec. 30—(INS)—The London Daily Graphic reported today that top American military officials and movie stars have arrived at Burtonwood, England to quell mounting discontent among 3,000 U. S. Air Force men.

The newspaper said the officials including Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington, will conduct inquiries into alleged bad conditions at the camp.

The Graphic added that screen stars Bob Hope, Jinx Falkenberg, composer Irving Berlin and other performers will entertain the soldiers in an effort to raise morale.

BAD VACCINE KILLS 64

TOKYO, Dec. 30—The Japanese immunization program was halted today because of the deaths of 64 persons and the illness of 900 more. Brig. Gen. Crawford F. Sams of Tracy, Calif., General MacArthur's health director, ordered the halt while vaccines were recalled and examined.

INDICTED IN CAMP SLAYING

Wyandot County Grand Jury Returns Count of First Degree.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Dec. 30—The Wyandot county grand jury ended its one day special session yesterday by returning an indictment for first degree murder against William McCoy, 60, St. Louis Negro section hand.

McCoy was indicted on the first degree murder count for the Christmas day hatchet murder of Cornelius "Fat" Green, of Indianapolis, a fellow section hand and father of five children.

Russell C. Price, Wyandot county prosecutor introduced 12 witnesses in support of his case for true bill of first degree murder against McCoy. The grand jury returned the indictment at 4:30 p. m. yesterday.

Arraignment Today

McCoy will probably be arraigned before Judge Russell H. Kear in common pleas court sometime Friday, a sheriff's office spokesman said.

Six other section hands from the same section crew as the murdered man and the murder suspect, were being held in Wyandot county jail today under bonds of $1,000 each as material witnesses in the case. All six material witnesses were reported as Tennessee and Alabama residents although all of their actual home addresses are not as yet known to the sheriff's department. Being held are William Robinson, David Johnson, Charles J. Jeffries, McNeal Thompson, John H. Moore, and D. G. Thompson.

Came from Cincinnati

These men with Green and McCoy were among a group of railway laborers transferred to Whiston from Cincinnati Dec. 2.

Cornelius Green will be buried in Wyandot county's "potter's field" today, a sheriff's department spokesman said. Sheriff B. H. Stansberry was notified yesterday by Green's wife she would not claim his body because of insufficient funds to take it to Indianapolis for burial.

INTENSIFY SEARCH FOR PLANE SURVIVORS

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 30—(AP)—Military aircraft winged over hundreds of miles of rugged Cuban coastline today following an unconfirmed report that survivors of a missing charter plane had been sighted on a beach.

Coast Guard officers directing the widespread aerial search said they had "absolutely nothing to authenticate or verify" the report, but every effort is being made to scan every inch of coast on the off-chance the report may be correct.

The report, which was transmitted from the New York headquarters of the Coast Guard yesterday, said "Unconfirmed report survivors sighted on Cuban coast."

It did not state on which side of the island the survivors were believed seen or in what area.

"It's a pretty slim lead," said one Coast Guard officer. "We can't afford to pass it up. But it's an awful long shot."

The airliner, a DC-3, has been missing two days. It was last heard in a faint radio message at 4:13 a. m. Tuesday when the pilot reported his position as about 50 miles south of Miami. It then had fuel for another hour of flight.

En route to Miami from San Juan, Puerto Rico, the plane carried 29 passengers—all of them native Puerto Ricans.

Truman Back at Work After Dramatic Landing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—(AP)—President Truman—safely back from his Christmas holiday after a dramatic talk-down landing through fog and rain—plunged in earnest today into preparations for the new congress.

Mr. Truman gave a group of top officials some long, jittery moments yesterday while his plane groped down a radar lane to a national airport runway after circling in the mist for more than 40 minutes.

As cabinet members and other government officers stood anxiously in the rain, the President, by his own word was "reading and sleeping." Worried? "Oh, my goodness, No!"

Mr. Truman returned from a week with his family in Missouri to a deskload of work. These matters were awaiting his attention for relay to Capitol Hill, where the Democratic-controlled 81st congress goes to work January 3:

The annual state of the union message, which he will deliver in person on Wednesday; his economic report and then his budget requests for the year starting July 1; and a vital foreign policy wrap-up which congress will get later in the month.

RIVAL GOP CAMPS IN MEETINGS TODAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—(AP)—Old line leaders of senate Republicans and a band of younger insurgents met today in rival strategy sessions.

Amid some secrecy, Senators Ives of New York and Morse of Oregon invited other self-styled GOP liberals to a closed-door discussion, time and place unannounced.

Still smarting under the party's November defeat, this group is determined to make a bigger say on party policies during the new congress which meets Monday with Republicans in the minority.

Senator Taft of Ohio meanwhile, called the "regulars" together for an afternoon meeting—its only announced purpose to map plans for tomorrow's final session of the 80th congress.

This was the final meeting of the policy committee, which Taft heads. The Ohio senator said only two minor matters were on the committee's slate. But it seemed obvious that the maneuvers of the insurgents would command more than passing attention.

Of the official business matters, one is a proposed 60-day extension beyond Jan. 13 for the Hoover commission to submit its broad plan of reorganization for government agencies.

"I don't think there will be much if any objection on this," Taft said.

But the GOP leader said there may be trouble in the senate tomorrow over a similar plan to ask a 30-day extension for the special small business committee, as the first step to preserving its life in the new congress. This group now is headed by Senator Wherry (R-Neb), the acting Republican floor leader and a prime target of the insurgents.

THE REAL McCOY DIES

STUART, Fla., Dec. 30—(AP)—Capt. Bill McCoy, 71, pioneer Florida passenger and freight boat operator, died of a heart attack aboard his boat today. McCoy was credited here with originating the term "the real McCoy." Friends said he also found "rum row" during the prohibition era. When the nation voted prohibition, friends said McCoy bought a schooner with a capacity of 6,000 cases and boasted he never sold anything but "the real McCoy."

RENO NERVOUS OVER CONTINUING QUAKES

RENO, Nev., Dec. 30—(AP)—Continuing earth tremors added today to the anxiety of residents of Reno and nearby towns, shaken vigorously by a strong earthquake early yesterday.

There was widespread damage, but no injuries in yesterday's temolor felt throughout north central California.

University of Nevada Seismologist Vincent P. Gianella warned that all indications pointed to further quakes, "possibly another heavy one."

It was lucky, he said, that yesterday's quake did not occur in an area of heavy population and tall buildings. "If it had, it certainly wouldn't have been a nice thing to see."

Gianella reported that a crack in the earth's surface had been found on a ranch a mile northwest of Verdi. Verdi, a community of 200 about 10 miles west of Reno, received the brunt of the shock.

RAPS RIGID PARITY

COLUMBUS, Dec 30—(AP)—A proposed rigid 90 per cent of parity crop support program by the federal government today drew criticism from the trustees of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. HAPPIER DAYS HERE FOR HOG FARMERS

COLUMBUS, Dec 30—(AP)—Happier days are here for Ohio hog farmers

The men who raise and fatten porkers for Ohio's eating pleasure are in an extremely favorable position for profitable feeding next year Merrill G Smith said today

Smith, extension economist at Ohio State university, who reviewed the Ohio corn-hog ratio said

"In Ohio, 100 pounds of pork would buy 18.2 bushels of corn the past November One year ago 100 pounds of pork would buy only 11.4 bushels

"This is a great improvement in the corn-hog ratio and it's likely to continue for sometime

Hog prices, he said, are not expected to drop much more They probably will rise seasonally after December

Average corn prices, on the other hand, are expected to stay down, close to the loan support level of $1.44 a bushel

As a reflection of this brighter outlook, Ohio hog farmers have indicated they intend to have about 20 per cent more sows farrowing in the spring than last year

Smith quoted the U S department of agriculture figures showing that on Dec. 1, 1948, the nation's farmers planned to produce 56.5 million pigs next spring, a 10 per cent boost over last year The U S department has asked for a 17 per cent hike in production.

1948 Has Been Golden Year of Sports in Buckeye State

CINCINNATI Dec 30 (AP) If someone ever gets around to writing a one-time history of Ohio sports he'll need a full volume to tell the story of 1948

It has been the 'golden year' of sports in the Buckeye state

For the 12 months of the year just ending fans and followers have been grabbing national headlines with a brilliant array of sports performers

In baseball professional football track golf boxing swimming tennis hockey and bowling Ohio produced enough champions to form a team whose members would be tops in their sports

And to top it all off at year-end an Ohioan—Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati had attained a big as perhaps the outstanding contender for the world's heavyweight boxing championship

The state's three greatest team performances on the national scene belonged to Cleveland.

After 28 years of futility the Cleveland Indians won the American league baseball championship and then went on to defeat the Boston Braves for the world's championship

The Cleveland Browns swept through a full season of All-America professional football league competition without a defeat and then crushed the Buffalo Bills in the playoff to win the loop championship for the third straight year

The Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey league turned in one of the ice sport's greatest performances by going through the last 27 games of the regular season without a defeat and roaring through two playoff series with the loss of only one contest to win the league title The Barons lost only one game in their last 36

Individual standouts by record grabbers were Mal Arnett of Ohio State and Harry Baird of Baldwin-Wallace in track Bob Shemansky of Toledo in golf Tony Tarbert of Cincinnati in tennis Jimmy McLane of Akron and Ohio State's Mike Peterson Bruce Harlan and Bill Smith in swimming Lincoln Prentch of Akron in Bowling and Robert Hollister Buddy Turner and Wallace Smith of Cincinnati and Teddy Filipello of Warren in amateur boxing

BASEBALL

Cleveland's great triumph in the American league and the World Series probably rated as the top sports story of the year in Ohio The Tribe rolled to its victory despite only a so-so season by Bob Feller, its ace pitcher Deadlocked with the Boston Red Sox at the close of the regular season, the Indians won the playoff and then took four of six games from the Braves despite the fact Feller failed to win either of his World Series starts Gene Bearden Bob Lemon and Steve Gromek did masterful pitching jobs

Cincinnati, Ohio's other major league club, wallowed around in the National league's second division all season and finally finished seventh Near the end of the schedule Manager Johnny Neun was released and succeeded by pitcher Bucky Walters

Columbus finished fourth in the American Association and went to the final round of the playoff before losing to St Paul. Toledo was poor seventh in the Association

Columbus lost the distinction of being the site of the American Association headquarters when Frank Lane resigned as league president and was succeeded by Bruce Dudley of Louisville The loop office was moved to Louisville

Zanesville won the pennant and the playoff in the Ohio-Indiana league

FOOTBALL

Paul Brown's Cleveland Browns completely dominated the All America pro league and their 49 to 7 victory over Buffalo in the playoff was just an example of their superiority

Whether Brown will remain with the Browns next year or go back to the college ranks still was unknown at year end but his name was being mentioned in connection with almost every major collegiate coaching vacancy

On the college front Ohio State staged a remarkable comeback from its disastrous 1947 season The Bucks won six of nine games and finished fourth in the Big Nine with a three and three record

In the regular 1948 season Heidelberg and Denison finished with perfect records, the Student Princes winning nine tilts and Denison eight

One of the year's biggest tempests occurred at the University of Cincinnati near the end of the year when Coach Ray Nolting was ousted and succeeded by Sid Gillman former coach of Miami who had just finished one year as line coach at Army

Among the 22 selections was Massillon as the No 1 team in The Associated Press poll John Colcen of McKinley was the year's top player

BASKETBALL

Ohio State finished a poor seventh in the Big Nine with a five and seven record but the Bucks had the distinction of beating Michigan, the conference champion

Cincinnati won the Mid-American conference with a seven and two record and Wooster took the Ohio conference title The Scots also had the best overall record in the state with 18 win and two lost

Bowling Green again played in the National Invitational tournament at New York, but lost in the first round Xavier competed in the NAIB tourney at Kansas City and went to the semi-finals before losing to Louisville

Middletown's two year reign over the Class A high schools came to an end and the Middies were succeeded on the throne by Findlay, which finished the season with 27 straight triumphs Findlay beat Hamilton Catholic, 51 to 36, in the Class A finals Middletown lost to Miamisburg in the district tournament

Eaton took the Class B championship by licking Lima St Rose 45 to 36, in the title game

GOLF

Shanahan the Toledo musician, was the state's outstanding golfer He won the coveted British Amateur as well as the Canadian Amateur and [illegible] had just finished off a year by winning [illegible] amateurs and professionals in the Miami Open.

TRACK

Ohio State roared back to track prominence by winning the Big Nine indoor and outdoor championships and OSU's Whitfield won the 800 meters at the Olympic games

Dillard who had piled up an amazing string of hurdle victories was shut out of his favorite events in the Olympics, but he won the 100 meters

Baldwin-Wallace was the state college champion

Gene Cole of Lancaster stole the show in the state high school meet He became the fifth three-event winner since Jesse Owens

Claridon, Morral, Caledonia Pace County Cage Loop

A quick glance at the statistics of the Marion County league games played to date gives some interesting revelations.

Three squads are still deadlocked for first place in the loop at the one third mark—Claridon, Morral, and Caledonia—but big Walt Yost, a Meeker boy, is the circuit's high scorer. Yost, a rangy center, has clicked for 72 points in four games which gives him an average of 18 markers a contest. His shooting is largely responsible for the Trojans three won, single loss record.

But what about those big three? With Morral the answer is easy. Norman Weston's sharp shooters boast of four out of five regulars with an average of better than ten points a game. Only 14 county cagers have been able to pull off the stunt so far. Yet the high-flying Morral men have Dick Granlee with 18 a contest, Merl Hilborn with 14, Jim Weston with 13 3 and Bob Cook with 12.3.

In contrast, Claridon is the only school to have four league victories but it has only two men on the ten-a-game list. Those men are Randy Dickason who has hit the hoop for 66 points in the four games for an average of 16 per contest and Ray Auld with 43 for an average of 11.7. Their next closest teammate is Dick Jones with 37 for 9.2.

In Similar Position

Caledonia is in a similar position with Gene Fleming and Dick Ray clipping off better than ten per encounter. Fleming was one of the loop's leading scorers last year and even though he was a junior he was selected on The Marion Star's All County team. He has played in only two games having just recovered from a football injury But in those two contests he has averaged 13.5 points. Right behind him is Dick Ray with 40 in three games for 13.3 per The pair should prove to be rougher as the season wears on

Two other schools, Green Camp and Meeker, have a pair of cagers with ten plus averages.. The Green Campers feature Bob Smith and Bob Weston. Smith is the county's second highest as far as averages are concerned. He has sunk 34 markers in two games for 17 per contest. This places him only a point average below Yost. Weston has hit for 22 in two to give him an average of 11.

Besides Yost, Meeker has a scoring threat in Bob Wood. He has collected 42 points in four games for 10 5. Coming up the ladder is Dick Johnson of the same squad with 37 in four for 9 2.

Gamble Leads LaRue

Jim Puetl's LaRue squad which is getting tougher every game is paced by George Gamble He has tallied 46 points in three games, for a neat 15.3 average The LaRue men have also received considerable aid from Jack Millisor who has dropped 29 markers in three contests.

Other team leaders are Robert Sharrock of Martel who has swished 31 in three for a 10 3 average, Knickle of Prospect with 41 in four for 10 2, Bob Salver of Waldo with 30 in four for 7 5 and Pleasant cagers Merle Vance with 22 for three and Dick Setzer with 21 for three Ned Sharp tops the New Bloomington squad with 40 points in three encounters for an average of 10 3

A week from this Friday the county men go into action again with five league games scheduled for the night of Jan 7. On the bill are the following contests Martel at Waldo Pleasant at Caledonia, Meeker at New Bloomington Prospect at Morral and LaRue at Green Camp

IRISH TO PLAY FOR POLIO FUND TODAY

Those busy Irish of Marion St Mary will take to the road again tonight for a benefit cage contest with Mt Vernon St. Vincent Proceeds of the game will go to the Knox county polio fund.

If their performance Tuesday is any indication, the Irish are rapidly moving up in the basketball world. They played their hearts out as they lost a heart-breaker to the powerful 1947 St Mary team, 47-44, in the final minutes of play. And the team they played against was rated one of the best in the history of the school.

St. Mary has a season record so far of four victories and three defeats.

BOWLING

H Little stood out as the star Tuesday night in the Marion Power Shovel league when he bowled a high 247 single game and also led in three games with an even 600. In the Shovel loop Wells scooped up 214, Carty 213, Patterson 213, Ginder 211, R Snyder 210, Showalter 203, and Moore 203

Racing 'Hot Rods' Is Spine-Tingling, Dangerous Sport

By GEORGE SCOTT

If Buick Karl scares you and a cemetery at midnight makes your spine tingle stick to some mild sport like football or boxing. Don't turn to hot rods.

Last summer for the first time Marionites had a chance to see the four-wheeled demons in action on the newly built Marion Speedway north of the city. The sport has one of the most loyal and enthusiastic group of followers but to many sports fans it is pretty much a mystery.

Three types of auto racing are the most popular and have been featured at the Speedway — hot rods, stock cars and midgets. The hot rods or roadsters give the most opportunity for ingenuity. A hot rod is actually a "souped up" stock car. In other words a car built by an American automobile factory is torn down, added to, and rebuilt until it looks nothing like the original model that rolled off the assembly line. Minor changes can be made to a stock car but it is by and large just about the same bus (but you drive minus glass for safety sake). Midgets are considerably smaller and while usually built by individuals they must conform to definite standards set down at most tracks.

Marionite To Race

Interest in the sport has been recently revived with the February running of what is perhaps the biggest auto racing event of the year — the Daytona Beach races at Daytona Beach Fla. Jim Boyd, Marion owner, will be one of the hundreds of owners drivers, and fans who will make the trip for the Stock Car Indianapolis. In all, there will be four different races with $15,000 to be awarded in prize money.

Boyd has been working on his car 61 to enter it in the biggest of the four races, the 200-mile long roadster classic for hot rods Feb. 13. The vehicle broke the track record at Dover last year but Boyd thinks the car a little too heavy to compete with the lighter hot rods now being built. However, car 61 has had a proud record in its five years of racing. In 1946, it took 18 consecutive firsts at all tracks in this area. The car has been rebuilt four times after crackups but a driver has never been hurt in it.

To match the latest hot rod improvements Boyd is building a new car which will be far lighter than his present model. He said the car should be ready for racing at the Marion Speedway this summer. As yet Boyd hasn't decided on a driver for car 61 in the big race.

Can Hit 140 MPH

How fast can a hot rod travel? Boyd said on the four-mile Daytona Beach track they hit 140 miles an hour on the straightaway. Thinking of anything going wrong at that speed is enough to make anyone shudder.

An improvement program is now going on at the Marion Speedway in preparation for the coming hot rod season. The Speedway has purchased a bulldozer for leveling and banking. In addition, tables are being put up for fans who want to combine hot rod racing with picnicing.

Two other drivers who have raced at the Speedway are known to be going down to Daytona Beach. They are Bob James of Cleveland who will be behind the wheel of car 9 and Dick Jordon of Columbus who will drive car 4.

Specifications for auto racing in Ohio during 1949 were recently released by the Ohio Speedway association. The regulations are the same ones that will be in effect in racing at the Marion Speedway.

Generally, hot rod owners need not worry about the specifications for the actual "don'ts" are few. Any stock American block may be used to house the engine but no overhead valves are allowed on an L head engine. The only transmission requirement is the driver must be able to disengage the rear wheels. Shock absorbers on all four wheels must work efficiently and wheelbases must be no less than 90 inches and no more than 120 inches. The width of the frame may be altered beyond the outer limits of the cross members only.

Only Stock Bodies

Only stock bodies may be used and they are required to cover the whole frame and the top half of the hood. The body must house two men and the doors must be welded, bolted or strapped shut. Knurfing bars and at least two wheel hydraulic brakes are required. Lastly, bumpers must meet the frame on both sides and all cars must be painted with a permanent number.

In contrast, almost no changes are allowed for stock cars. Any type fuel may be used and a racing safety steering wheel may be installed. Also half hoods are permitted to aid cooling but outside of these changes the car must be as it was when it came from the factory. Glass is not permitted in any racing car for obvious reasons.

Ralph Baldwin Led Grand Circuit Drivers

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—(AP)—Ralph Baldwin, 32-year-old harness horse driver from Lafayette, Ind., was the leading money-winning reinsman on the 1948 Grand Circuit with $144,219 in major sulky purses.

Grand Circuit statistics disclosed today that Baldwin, Canadian driver for Saunders Mills stable of Toledo, Ohio, topped his nearest competitor by $40,000.

Franklin Safford of Keene, N. H., driving a public stable, was the only other driver to go over $100,000 this year on the Grand Circuit tracks. His total was $104,786.

Baldwin replaced Harry Fitzpatrick, Charleston, Ill., veteran who led with $130,215 in 1947. Fitzpatrick had a poor 1948 season and dropped to 22nd with $28,990.

Third this year was H. M. (Doc) Parshall, Urbana, Ohio driver for Hayes Fair Acre stable of Duquoin, Ill., with $91,948.

Wooster Coach To Give Up Football Duties

WOOSTER, Dec. 30—(UP)—John M. Swigart, head football coach at Wooster college for the past nine years, will give up his football job to become head baseball coach, Athletic Director E. M. Hole announced today. Hole said a new football coach would be hired to succeed Swigart. Arthur Murray, formerly baseball coach, will become coach of freshman football, baseball and basketball.

Augie Galan Released By Cincinnati Reds

CINCINNATI, Dec. 30—(AP)—Augie Galan, outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds the last two seasons, became a free agent today.

Warren Giles, president of the club, said he had mailed the release to Galan at Berkley, Calif.

The player, who was in the National league for 15 years, was sidelined most of the 1948 season because of a sore throwing arm.

In the 1914 World's Series the Boston Braves beat the Athletics four straight with Dick Rudolph and Bill James winning two games each.

KENTUCKY-ST. LOUIS BATTLE ON TONIGHT

NEW ORLEANS Dec. 30 (AP)—The basketball game everyone has longed for—Kentucky vs. St. Louis—will be played here tonight in the finals of the four-team Sugar Bowl tournament.

The Wildcats of Kentucky and Billikens of St. Louis, outstanding college clubs of last season and undefeated in the present campaign, won their way to the title game with victories in last night's opening round.

The Billikens National invitational champions, beat Holy Cross 61-52 in the first game last night. Then Kentucky's NCAA champs shooting with amazing accuracy swamped Tulane 78-47.

Kentucky and St. Louis have never met at basketball before. Last spring, when each boasted a national title, there was great hope they might clash in the Olympic trials. But St. Louis didn't enter, and Kentucky lost to the AAU champion Phillips Oilers in the finals.

UPPER SANDUSKY — Opening of the 1949 campaign for funds for the Wyandot County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis on Jan. 1 was announced today by Leo T. Jones of Upper Sandusky county drive chairman. Goal for the county campaign has been set at $10,000.

During 1948 the county chapter acted on the care and treatment of 19 cases of polio spending all of its funds and borrowing $2,700 to meet the bills and fees past Dec. 1. The total borrowed by the chapter will reach approximately $3,500 by Jan. 1, Mr. Jones said.

Additional treatment will be needed by several victims, ranging in age from six months to 37 years during the new year, Mr. Jones added.

Ohio Supreme Court Rules on Compensation

COLUMBUS, Dec. 30—(AP)—Unemployed workers are not entitled to compensation benefits if they refuse to take jobs similar to those they had the Ohio supreme court ruled yesterday.

In so doing the high court reversed the Lucas county common pleas court and the court of appeals on suits filed by two Toledo garment workers — Rose Irene Nowak and David Baim.

The bureau of unemployment compensation in 1945 suspended jobless benefits to the garment workers because they refused to accept referrals to similar jobs paying less than they had been making. The BUC's board of review approved the suspensions.

Lucas common pleas court reversed the board and the appellate court affirmed. However the supreme court held that a person is not entitled to unemployment benefits if he refuses to either investigate or accept work similar to that he had been performing.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Copper Spouting

Q—We are about to move into a house that has wood clapboard siding. It has no spouting. Would you advise copper spouting, or should it stain the walls?

A—On paint containing zinc there will be some discoloration from copper. On straight lead and oil there is no discoloration at all, such as copper has the great advantage of being non-rusting, and for this reason is very economical. To prevent discoloration you could apply clear varnish on the spouting, repainting it from time to time whenever necessary, or you could paint it.

Mr. Whitman offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning home repair work. If you would like to have his leaflet, W-16 on Modern Wood Finishes, send 3 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Roger C. Whitman, care of The Marion Star, P. O. GRAIN MARKET

Local Grain Market

(Prosperers Livestock Cooperative Association Quotations)

Wednesday market after 2 p. m.: Wheat 2.19; No. 3 white oats .82.

Range

CHICAGO, Dec. 30—(AP)—Wheat and corn opened with small gains on the board of trade today. The fact that parity prices, as announced last night by the agriculture department, showed no decline between November and December caused a little buying in the major cereals. The trade generally had expected a further slump in parity.

Wheat started ¼-⅜ cent higher, May $2.29-2.28b; corn was ⅛-¾ higher, May $1.50-1.49⅞, and oats were unchanged to ¼ lower, May 78⅝.

DUTCH SEIZE OIL FIELDS

BATAVIA, JAVA, Dec. 30—(AP)—The Dutch announced today they have seized the last economically important area controlled by the Indonesian Republic, the Djambi oil fields in southern Sumatra. "On the whole the installations were undamaged," the communique said, referring obliquely to Republican scorched earth tactics. "Efforts to set fire to them resulted in a few unimportant fires only. Resistance was negligible."

FORD OPTIMISTIC, SEES BUYERS' MARKET COMING

DETROIT, Dec. 30—(AP)—Optimism is expressed by Henry Ford II in the year-end statement.

The Ford Motor Co. president said sales would continue at a rate a buyers' market is not far away and he added that his company would welcome this.

The automobile company executive pointed out that Ford passenger car production this year will be an all-time record, 1,000,000 more than in a buyers' market.

"We are going to take a buyers' market and begin competitive selling again. From the sales leadership we were after [illegible]."

He termed this year's introduction of an entirely new line of cars with a minimum of changes during the changeover "the high point of the year."

Message for Upstairs

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—THE man had stayed late at his office. He sat alone, scratching moodily on a desk pad.

The pencil wrote:

"I hereby resolve in the coming new year to—"

The man got up, walked across the empty office to the water cooler, pressed the foot pedal. The water spurted up and hit him in the face.

Hal Boyle

"Blankety-blank!" the man said absent-mindedly. He walked back to his desk and began to scribble out his resolutions:

"To drink bigger glasses of water and smaller glasses of stuff that isn't water."

"To read one good new book and one good old book every month.

"To quit yelling at my wife.

"To quit yelling at the kids.

"To quit getting to the office late.

"To take my wife out to dinner and an evening of fun at least once a week.

• • •

"TO QUIT BETTING on horses.

"To save some money.

"To buy my wife a fur coat.

"To get eight hours of sleep every night."

And so the man wrote on until he had 25 resolutions written down. By then the moodiness had left his face, and he was smiling. He paused and looked over his work, and found it good.

"Not a bad list, if I do say so," he said smugly. "This would impress the recording angel himself—if I had a way to get it up to heaven."

He looked at the buzzer on his desk and a wild fancy came into his mind.

"What if—" he mused. Then he made a wish, and pressed the buzzer. Immediately the door opened and in came a tall stern figure robed in white. He held a file of papers in his hands.

"ANY MESSAGES for upstairs, sir?" asked the ghostly figure.

"Why, wh-wh-wh-who are you?" stammered the man at the desk.

"I'm the angel of truth, now on special assignment as messenger for the recording angel," said the figure. "Didn't you just wish for a messenger?"

"Yes," said the man, "but we don't usually get that kind of service in this office."

"What did you want me to deliver?" asked the angel.

"My new year's resolutions," said the man. The angel took the list and scanned it quickly.

"I'm glad you brought this up," said the angel. "You've been causing us a lot of unnecessary bookkeeping. I have here your previous lists for the last ten years. Please look them over."

The man, abashed, did so.

"You will find, I think," said the angel crisply, "that all these years you've been making lists promising exactly the same reforms."

• • •

THE MAN AT the desk held up one of the lists and said defensively:

"Well—you don't say anything about stopping yelling at the kids."

That one was made out before you had any children," said the angel coldly. "But otherwise every year after year you've taken up a whole page in the golden book making promises you haven't carried out."

The recording angel is tired of this. He says for you either to start living up to your word—or just tell him honestly now you don't intend to, so he can just put in carbon copies to cover you for the rest of your life."

"Take up the list just once more," said the man, "I'll do my very best this year to keep my resolutions."

The angel took it, gave him a golden smile. There was a puff of light—and the angel was gone.

The man started to say "blankput on his coat and hat and started for the door. He paused at the water cooler and pushed the foot pedal. The water spurted up—and hit him in the face.

The man started to say "blankety-" but then he paused. He remembered that the 19th item on his list of resolutions was to stop saying "blankety-blank" when the water cooler hit him in the face.

"Somebody ought to fix that machine," he said mildly, and walked out feeling better. It looked like the start of a good new year.

ASHLEY-OWNED DOG ENTERED IN TRIALS

H. J. Willits Enters Miss Ohio Trim in Jan. 1 Event.

ASHLEY, Dec. 30—Miss Ohio Trim has been entered in the Snowball derby at Barberton, New Years day field trial classic for coon dogs. She is owned by H. J. Willits of Ashley.

Miss Trim, three years old last spring, was entered in her first running in Mansfield where she finished second in her heat. She has won seven out of 12 starts in her class. She has won over such speeders as Candy, owned by Wilson of Illinois, Lucky Plot, of Pennsylvania, Betty owned by Paul Jones of Indiana, Singer Girl, from Tennessee and Gravel Gertie. Miss Trim is believed to be the speediest field trial dog of her size. Her running weight is 27½ pounds.

Mr. Willits, besides a dog fancier is a drummer and band leader. He is well known among sportsmen in the field trial circles.

He raised Ohio Trim from a pup, carefully training her to track and tree 'coon quickly and to run against competition from all over the country. Miss Trim was first trained to mind and broken to run by her patient owner. Short tracks were laid with 'coon scent, and as time went on, longer tracks were laid with square corners known as breaks, weaving across cornfields, woods and streams as 'coon would do. These tracks are known as running under cover.

If you would seek a driving freak
It won't take long to find him.
'Tis he who turns—
And safety spurns
To talk with those behind him.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Emotions and Your Digestion.

It pays to be calm, for we now know that the emotions such as fear, anxiety, and anger, all have an effect on the way in which the various parts of the body function, and these disturbances in function may cause troublesome symptoms. This is particularly true of the stomach.

Some very careful studies have been carried out by Drs. Wolf and Wolff, of New York. They used four persons who had what is known as a gastric fistula, that is an opening from the stomach to the outside. They were able to look directly into the stomachs of these patients and note various changes in the lining membranes as well as determining the amount of secretions formed.

They found that as a result of emotional disturbances, the stomach may become overactive or underactive, and that the same person may show either type of change under varying circumstances. They also learned that these emotional upsets might cause a sufficient change in the action of the stomach to nullify or cancel out the effects the various foods had produced.

Overactivity of the stomach often was found to be associated with heartburn and pain in the abdomen of a gnawing nature. These pains were strongest during the periods when the stomach was emptied, and usually were relieved by taking food, milk, or an alkaline substance such as baking soda.

Underactivity of the stomach was found when a feeling of fullness in the stomach or abdomen, or a feeling of sickness or nausea was present.

A person whose stomach is overactive has changes in the stomach which normally go with hunger, whether or not he has any appetite. When the stomach is overactive it indicates that the person is preparing to fight his problems. When the stomach is underactive, it indicates that the individual is not meeting the challenge of his surroundings but is giving up to them. His nausea expresses his distaste for the situation in which he finds himself.

The role which the emotions play in the development of these stomach disturbances should be understood. Many persons who develop such symptoms as pain in the abdomen or nausea become certain that they are suffering from some actual disease condition when actually their troubles are only due to their emotions. An explanation of this fact may in itself, and greatly in relieving the symptoms.

Persons who have such abdominal disturbances are in need of thorough study by the physician to determine just what disorder is present so that the most effective treatments may be carried out.

MARION MEN SANTA TO BRITISH ORPHANS

Two Are Among Ship Crew Entertaining Children.

Two Marion men are members of the crew of the U. S. Navy heavy cruiser USS Columbus who played Santa to 100 war orphans of Plymouth, England, aboard the ship Christmas day. They are Robert W. Price, seaman apprentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Price of 477 Park street, and Earl R. Thompson, seaman, of 679 North State street.

Arrangements were made with the social welfare secretary for the Lord Mayor of Plymouth to have the youngsters, whose ages range from seven to nine, arrive by motor launch. They were personally escorted about the ship by 100 sailors who were their "big brothers" for the day.

The party included a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. Santa Claus arrived in a helicopter with candy and fruit and waterproof plaid-lined zipper jackets for each boy and a blouse for each girl plus her choice of a pullover or cardigan sweater.

The wives and children of officers and men of the Columbus who are present in Plymouth also participated in the party.

Capt John M. Will, USN, commanding officer of the Columbus, announced plans for a party and movies for 150 underprivileged children from the Virginia House Settlement in Plymouth to be held aboard the Columbus Jan. 3.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

Dicky grinned up at Katharine as she prepared to tell him of her visit to the offices of the detective agency.

"I thought you promised me a rub down—with you and my faithful spouse wielding the hot towels," he said.

"Presently, presently," she said. "I dare you to try one, he said, and, of course, I know it was camouflage to get me in here so get on with your story."

"I went to the address you gave me," she said, "the faithful Winters tagging at my heels, and a nice hole in the wall it is. Looked as if it hadn't been swept for a week, and your friend, when I got into the inner sanctum, leaving Winters outside, looked as if he intended growing a Rip Van Winkle beard."

"He must be winding up a difficult case," Dicky said. "When he's getting his final deductions marshalled, he doesn't eat regular meals, or shave, or sleep in a bed, or let anybody touch anything in the office. It's a wonder he saw you."

"His secretary told me at first he wasn't seeing anyone," Katharine said. "Then I gave her your letter."

"Did that turn the trick?" Dicky asked.

"It certainly did," she replied. "He was affability itself. And, my lad, you certainly picked yourself a live wire. I never saw a man that seemed to give out more capability and dependability than your friend. And, before we talked, he proved to me by tests that his inner office is sound proof."

"Except for his hidden microphone," Dicky said with a grin. "But he wouldn't turn that on to record you or me. I told you, didn't I, that he was 'as deep as a well, and as safe as a church'?"

"I have heard you mention it once, or twice, or thrice," she said, wrinkling her nose at him. "But you were justified. I'll wager my next new hat on it."

"What did he think of my job?" Dicky asked.

"He was much interested, and he said that he had reached a stage of his current problem, where he has to let things simmer for a couple of days, and that he would get the midnight train up to the school, arriving there in the morning. He said that he would telephone you here, using your usual code just before he boarded the train, so that you could report any new development.

"I didn't quite know just what I ought to do about the faked telephone," she went on, "but I finally gave it to him, with the stipulation that if you didn't want him to use it, you would advise him before he left tonight. He said he would be either at his office or his apartment until time to leave for the train."

"There is no reason why he can't telephone the farmhouse in code," Dicky said. "But why does he expect any new development?" he added, a bit uneasily. "The boys are safely down here, the danger, whatever it may be, is up at the school. They can't get into communication or does he think there'll be an attempt to do just that?"

"He didn't say so," Katharine said. "But he did ask a great many questions about the boys, their characteristics, and their habits. Into one problem he probed deeply. He wanted to know if either of the boys had any weaknesses which would get him into questionable scrapes on his own account, or if they were the chivalrous protectors of weaker schoolmates."

MISSION CIRCLE HELD

Christmas meeting of the Re-Vera Mission circle of the Prospect Baptist church was held Wednesday night last week at the home of Mrs. Jane Thomas. Mrs. Eileen Kessler was assistant hostess. Devotions were led by Mrs. Mary Jane Ahmay. Roll call was "Special Thoughts and Information on Christmas." During business session, in charge of Mrs. Helen Collins, it was voted to pay for the Christmas bulletins for the church. Gifts were reported mailed from the society to Miss Hunt, missionary in Burma, and Miss Setzekorn in Alaska. The lesson study on Mexico was presented by Mrs. Ruth Green. Mrs. Ahmay presented a short article on the Christmas spirit of love, followed by a "quiet hour" and poem, "Christmas Tree." Gifts for an exchange among the members were found under a decorated tree. Guests were Mrs. Nora Griffith and Miss Joanne Collins.

224 New Books Added To Shelves of Library

Two hundred twenty-four new books were added to the Carnegie public library in November, making a total of 43,694 volumes available, according to a recently released library report. Of the new books, 219 were purchased by the board, and five were gifts, with 87 of the books for adults and 137 for juveniles.

Circulation for the main library totaled 6,903 and for the county branches 2,033, and juvenile circulation in the city schools came to a total of 1,421. Circulation in the various county branches was divided as follows: LaRue, 945; Prospect, 586; Caledonia, 502.

With 251 borrowers added during the month at the main library and 44 in the branch libraries, the grand total of registered borrowers for both at the end of the month was 7,975. At LaRue, 17 borrowers were added, 11 at Prospect and 16 at Caledonia.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Year-end price news is encouraging . . . The fur market has broken and the meat market is cracking.

• • •

There is some question as to whether the break in furs comes from unreasonable weather or unreasonable statements but a large number of minks are unemployed.

• • •

And rib roast is in the grasp of women who couldn't touch raccoon two months ago.

• • •

This price slashing indicates that the 1949 dollar will be more valuable . . . Probably will be more elusive too.

• • •

But it seems a pity that prices should drop before the 81st congress could investigate them . . . Now it may have to resume the never-finished "underlying causes of recession" study.

• • •

Anyway we seem to be assured of a full year of surprises . . . Maybe things that even will surprise Gallup . . . Again.

Building Construction Doubles at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION Dec 30 — Building construction in Galion during 1948 practically doubled that of the previous year, it was revealed in a survey of building permits issued at City Hall.

Figures showed that 160 permits were issued during 1948 as against 135 in 1947. Higher priced homes and more of them were under construction in 1948, according to the estimates on permits.

An increase in the number of business and industrial buildings such as theaters, churches, bowling alleys, service stations and other concerns, was noted for 1948 as compared with 1947.

Up to Dec. 16, 1948, building permits totaled $634,356, and a number of others which have been applied for will hike the total to $676,844. The figure for 1947 was $371,710.

New Homes Increase

While 59 Galion citizens took out permits to build new homes in 1948, estimated at an aggregate cost of $291,900, and six others are making applications for permits totaling $39,500 there were permits given to only 44 home builders in 1947. The aggregate sum of the 44 homes was estimated at $208,700. Two homes were in the $15,000 and $14,000 class in 1948, while the highest estimate on a home in 1947 was $8,000.

Permits issued for other homes in Galion during 1948 also show interesting figures. They ranged in estimates from $1,000 to $8,500. There were five estimated at $8,000, and one at $8,500. Two were estimated at $7,000 and eight at $6,000 to $6,500. Twelve of the homes were estimated at $5,000 to $5,500, while 16 had estimates from $4,000 to $4,800. Six others were estimated at $3,000 to $3,500, two were in the $2,000 class, and six ranged from $1,000 to $1,500.

According to the 1947 permits, the 44 home builders favored homes estimated at from $5,000 to $5,500, since there were 13 permits issued in this bracket. Thirteen others estimated homes at $7,500 to $8,000, seven were approximately $6,000 to $6,800; 11 were estimated at $4,500 to $4,800 and the balance estimated their homes at lower figures.

Public Buildings Up

Permits issued on business and public buildings were in greater number and estimated at a much higher figure in 1948 than in the previous years. They totaled $291,590, up to Dec. 16. Included in this figure was a theater, estimated at $100,000, a church basement at $61,000, a private industrial garage at $45,000, a bowling alley at $20,000, and a service station at $15,000. The remainder of permits in the amount of $342,656, were issued for additions to homes, home improvements, private garages, and small businesses.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

ADELE I. SPRINGER, born Dec 30, 1907, in Brooklyn, daughter of a real estate broker. Torn between ambitions in the theater and social work, she compromised on law, was graduated from St. John's University Law School, studied writing at Columbia and international law abroad. She became the first woman admiralty lawyer in the U. S., championed the case of the victims of the Morrow Castle and wrote the Sirovich Act.

Two Knotty Liquor Problems Passed On

COLUMBUS, Dec. 30—(AP)—Governor-elect Frank J. Lausche's as-yet-unnamed state liquor director was "willed" two items yesterday by the outgoing director, Dale Dunifon.

Dunifon, an appointee of Republican Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, said he would leave his Democratic successor (1) the names of 4,563 Ohioans who own slot machines and (2) the $8,000 cases of slow moving liquor left over from three special public sales.

Dunifon said he was planning no attempt to dispose of the surplus liquor between now and Jan. 10, when Lausche takes office.

Nearly 100,000 cases of slow-moving liquor were sold in the public sales. Another 36,000 was sold later in bulk bids. Dunifon estimated the sales cost Ohio $2,000,000 — the difference between the original selling price of $7,800,000 and the sale price.

The names of the slot machine owners were taken from federal lists of Ohioans licensed by the collector of internal revenue to operate the "slots."

Parishioner Prays For Plush Pews—Gets 'Em

DAYTON, O., Dec. 30—(AP)—"I can't come to church because the benches are too hard for me to sit on through an entire service," a parishioner told the Rev. James Thomas of the South Park Methodist church a few months ago.

So, today workmen began installing 160 new theater-type seats with rounded backs and air cushions in the church, one of the city's largest.

The Reverend Thomas wrote the man telling about the new seats and "now I expect to see at least one more member in church next Sunday."

Systematic Security

THE first report of the secretary of defense, James V. Forrestal, is a rewarding document for those who will take the time to read it. They will find in it the true proportions of the hardest job ever tackled by the United States.

Beginning with the slap-dash mobilization of fighting forces in the revolution and extending through every subsequent war, Americans have relied on improvised security. They have neglected their military establishment between wars, then made up for the neglect by lavishing public money on their fighting forces when danger loomed. Coordination has seemed too difficult to attain, even in wartime. Responsibility for preparedness has been turned over to professional cliques whose members did the best they could, knowing that in event of war they would be second-guessed and criticised by civilian defenders who would rush to the rescue with more determination than ammunition. There has been a lack of system, and if the shortcoming has not been fatal it has been only because it has been covered up in crises by enormous expenditures of public money.

In the 15 months since the national security act was passed, Secretary Forrestal has tried to lay the groundwork for systematic security. He has tried to coordinate the preparedness of the nation. In effect, he has tried to do what never has been done successfully by any major power—to preserve its strength against the inroads of a too costly military establishment. What is called "unification" becomes, in this broad sense, only another name for efficiency as the United States accepts the classical challenge to its survival. History is littered with the records of great powers which failed to do what the secretary of defense is charged with doing.

Seems Like More

THE census bureau has arrived at the round figure of 148,000,000 as the national population total for the end of 1948. If all goes well, and even if it doesn't, the estimated total by the end of 1949 will be close to 151,000,000 and will probably reach 155,000,000 by 1950, when the decennial census will be taken. That will be more than twice as many of us as there were in 1900. It wasn't until 1920, which most of us can remember more or less pleasantly as a glorious era, that the national population went past the 100,000,000 mark.

Like the children who keep swelling the totals of vital statistics, the growth of the United States proceeds more rapidly than the growth of its elders' ability to comprehend it. Batteries of adding machines aren't adequate to the task of keeping abreast of what it means to double the population in 50 years. Education, housing, transportation, hospital facilities—these never have caught up and probably never can catch up until the population stabilizes itself, perhaps in another 50 years. Business statistics, financial statistics and social statistics become obsolete before they can be published. In the half hour since this comment was started (with time out for a trip to the drinking fountain, a cigaret and a glance at the window) enough new babies have been born to keep a new diaper service busy 24 hours a day.

Out of Line

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S statement that some Russian leaders would like to reach an understanding with the United States is mildly sensational for only one reason.

It suggests that he may have reliable information to that effect.

Aside from the possibility that some kind of diplomatic approach may be made to unnamed Russians who might welcome it, there's certainly nothing sensational about the idea that even in the Soviet Union there is a difference of opinion about the Communist party's policy of obstruction.

Numerous observers have reported a strong inclination among the Russian people to be friendly to the United States. It is not impossible that the same sentiment might exist among certain Russian officials, though it's improbable that any official who got out of line would survive much longer than it would take the Kremlin to find out about it.

In the United States, of course, many officials have wanted to be sympathetic and cooperative toward the Russian government. One of them ran for president of the United States as recently as last month, after resigning from Mr. Truman's cabinet. But even as a cabinet member, he wanted to be friendly toward Russia. Mr. Truman's predecessor in the presidency wanted to be friendly, too, and if the Kremlin hadn't betrayed his friendship the possibility that Mr. Truman now might have discovered a flicker of friendship in that stony fortress of political reaction wouldn't be given a second thought.

Truman Report of Soviet Split Eases War Tension

WASHINGTON

WHEN a President of the United States makes a statement about what is happening in so isolated a country as Russia, it may be taken for granted that he has excellent sources of information and is taking it from unquestionably reliable facts.

This is why Mr. Truman's disclosure that there is a division inside the politburo, which rules the Soviet government, is about the most sensational piece of news that has emerged for many months in the international situation.

There have been rumors before that differences of opinion prevail in Moscow with respect to the policies to be followed in relations with the Western Powers, but each time such reports have been denied by State department officials familiar with the problem.

It was noted in these dispatches last summer that Stalin was placed in an uncomfortable position by the reversal of his word given during the course of the negotiations designed to lift the Berlin blockade. It was asserted then that Stalin had too much knowledge of the unfavorable impression such as public repudiation might convey to peoples abroad to permit it to happen if he could prevent it.

• • •

MR. TRUMAN says frankly that there are elements inside the Russian government which want to reach an understanding with America. He couples this with the blunt declaration that the Russian government has not kept specific agreements made at Yalta and at Potsdam. This is a familiar argument by American officials, but in all fairness it must be recorded that the Russians say the same thing about the attitude of the Western Powers toward those same agreements.

The Russian thesis is a difficult one to accept, but it is important not to overlook the rationalizations that lie behind it. For one thing, the Russians feel that the failure of the London conference did not justify the Western Powers in going ahead with their plan to split Germany into three zones. The allies of the west say, quite impatiently, that they were tired of waiting for the Russians to agree on an over-all plan. But to the Russian mind this does not mean that a soverign nation can be coerced into an agreement or that the Western Powers had a right to take matters into their own hands.

• • •

THE BERLIN BLOCKADE was to be eased at a meeting set up by Moscow in advance to the initiative taken by the Western Powers in establishing a western German economy. The Russian idea is that a deadlock cannot be resolved that way.

What the Russians are seeking, of course, is to impose as hard a set of conditions as possible in order to induce the kind of settlement that they want. They fail to see that the western allies cannot be coerced either.

The whole problem has grown more and more complex as the cold war has developed. Incidentally, the declaration of the Truman doctrine in connection with help to Greece and Turkey was viewed inside America as a natural step to aid democracy, but to the Russians it was in effect a declaration of a cold war.

During a war many nations regard previous agreements as having been repealed. If Russia has not lived up to her Yalta and Potsdam pacts, it could well be that the Soviets considered all bets were called off when the cold war started.

• • •

WHAT IS NEEDED is a fresh start toward a settlement of the overall problem of Germany. The Russians have now seen a demonstration of the strength of the Western Powers, and America has been made aware that the Russians do not intend to abandon their antipathy toward capitalism as a system. Under such circumstances, it would seem that some constructive steps could be taken for a method of adjustment whereby ultimately a complete settlement could be attained. Merely to accuse the other side of breaking agreements has not thus far yielded a spirit of reconciliation.

It will be interesting to see what reaction from Moscow will be produced by Mr. Truman's comment. If the situation were reversed and someone in Russia accused America of divided counsels, there would be every effort made to submerge differences and present a united front.

About all that can be derived from the President's remark is that the tension over the possibility of an early outbreak of war has been eased. The mere existence of divided counsels in Moscow is reassuring in itself.

Problems in Germany

By Walter Lippmann

THERE is now available the material for a preliminary estimate of the progress and the prospects of the policy which proposes to set up a German government west of the Elbe and to make a viable economy within the European recovery program.

Just when this policy was decided upon may not be known until the records and the memoirs of this period are published. But shortly after the breakup of the council of foreign ministers held in London last autumn, the United States and Great Britain took the initiative, with France consenting reluctantly, in formulating the policy.

Two conferences held in London in the winter and spring ended with the signing of the London agreement early in June.

These agreements, both those which were published and those which have not yet been published, were a body of general principles to be followed by the governments, and of instructions to Generals Clay, Robertson and Koenig, designed to set up a regime for the Ruhr, and to create a German federal republic in western Germany, an occupation statute which would fix the legal relationship of this republic to the western powers, and a plan by which western Germany was to become, with the help of Marshall aid, a productive and self-sufficient partner in the reconstruction of western Europe.

Groundwork Laid

In the last six months much work has been done to put into practice the policy formulated by the London agreements. The Germans have been meeting in a constitutional convention, which they prefer to call the parliamentary council, and their deliberations are interesting and significant.

The military governors have been negotiating the text of the occupation statute which will in fact be the supreme law of western Germany, and their discussions are now for Washington, London and Paris to resolve.

Finally, we know the results of the currency reform, and there exists a plan, now in the hands of the Marshall aid countries, which is supposed to show how the economy of western Germany is to become prosperous and solvent.

These three parallel developments need to be studied together. When they are, not only those who had great fears of the policy of the London agreements will find themselves asking what will happen if the policy succeeds but what will happen if it seems so highly probable that the policy works very badly indeed.

The parliamentary council at Bonn was opened last September with a speech by Prof. Carlo Schmid, the leader of the Socialists in the constitutional convention. Schmid is the most influential member of the committee which drafted the so-called Chiemsee report, the preliminary working paper of the convention.

Schmid told the council the document they were going to prepare could not be a constitution. "The German people, being under an alien occupation, are not free to form such a constitution; on the contrary what they are going to do is imposed on them by external compulsion. Such imposed documents may be technically good but they are not, democratically speaking, constitutions."

No Voice of Own

Schmid went on to tell the constitutional convention that since they were acting under "external compulsion," the government they would create could be only "the apparatus of domination." When a people, he said, "has to organize under alien rule and subject to its approval, it does not constitute itself unless it does so against the alien rule itself."

There we have, quite candidly set forth, what the Germans, our strongly anti-Communist Germans in the western zones, think of this western German state we have invited, indeed pushed them, to form. When Prof. Schmid spoke in September, he had not seen the text of the occupation statute under which the government will be much the strongest element, is to live.

When the western Germans see that statute, they will find set down in black and white the bald and inescapable fact that it is impossible to have democratic self-government under military occupation. It will demonstrate to the Germans that all power is reserved by their conquerors, and that they have no real power themselves.

So it would be late to think, as some of the more naive of our officials do, that the new German government, lacking real power, will take the responsibility for the solution of Germany's problems.

The main concern of Germans who participate in this government, as I have pretty good reason to know from intimate talks I had with a few of them, will be to prove to the German people that they are not collaborators with Vichy government and a collection of Quislings.

No Moral Authority

This new government, we must realize, cannot have legal legitimacy or moral authority in the eyes of the great mass of the Germans.

Yet it will be asked to govern a German territory in which all the economic and social conflicts and problems that exist in Great Britain, France and Italy, are present in infinitely more difficult form.

There are about the same number of people in western Germany as there are people in the United Kingdom and, like the British, they must import a large part of their food and raw materials.

The fact is that the rise in German production following the currency reform last summer has already—I say this on the best possible authority—but the ceiling fixed by the limitation of power and skilled labor. The rise was probably not so great as the official statistics said it was.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Dec. 30, 1938.

The second siege of cold weather within a week was forecast for Marion and the rest of the state.

Private Vengeance

By George E. Sokolsky

WHEN Laurence Duggan went out of the window, three assumptions were possible: 1. That he was involved in espionage, directly or indirecetly, and that he committed suicide; 2. That he was not involved but did commit suicide because his name had been mentioned by association; 3. That he was murdered and thrown from the window. There is still another possible assumption, namely, that he did not commit suicide nor was he murdered, but that he fell out of the window and that it all had nothing to do with the Chambers-Hiss affair nor with his having been attached to the state department.

Neither the police nor the FBI are helpful, but the FBI gives him a clean bill of health but does not explain the full nature of its investigation nor why he was investigated at all. The FBI has been silent in these espionage matters for many years—under instructions, it is to be presumed. At any rate, it would be more just to the memory of Laurence Duggan if the department of justice made itself clearer, so that no one would be suspicious that there is something on Duggan but that it is being suppressed.

• • •

THE CASE OF Sumner Welles is different. Here a man goes for a walk on Christmas night—very late— in quiet country, across fields and not by road. He either had a heart attack or somebody tried to bump him off—or he simply stumbled on a root. Only Welles can describe the circumstances, because he was alone. Immediately those who oppose the activities of the house committee on un-American activities rushed into print or on the radio saying that Sumner Welles was made emotionally unstable by the suicide of Laurence Duggan. When they said that—on Sunday—they could not know it to be true.

Lots of people die of heart attacks—more than 40 per cent of all the deaths in this country. Therefore, it is possible to assume that Mr. Welles had a heart attack and collapsed upon frozen ground. Such an attack could be without relationship to politics—national or international. It might also have been due to indigestion, oversmoking, drinking too much, or a diabetic coma. Why must things not related to each other suddenly become related to each other?

• • •

IN FACT, those who use Mr. Welles's discomfiture for private revenge do him a disservice, for if they go far enough in their assertions, they may force a reopening of the Welles-Hull quarrel which resulted in Mr. Hull forcing Welles, an undeniably brilliant public servant, out of the state department.

There is a danger that because of the certainty that spies were placed in the state department by a foreign country, our enemy since 1917, every individual with a private grudge, a nasty mind, an unquenchable hatred will point a vicious finger at the one he dislikes to call him a spy and a traitor. This is a dangerous business and so far as I can tell, and I have studied this problem with unremitting care for more than 30 years, those who are really guilty are pretty well-known even if proof is unavailable and conviction well-nigh impossible.

The fact is that this was true in 1934 when the Harold Ware cells were organized; in 1938 when the Dies committee got its fingers on the data; in 1939, when Whittaker Chambers told his story to Adolf A. Berle; in 1941 when they gave it to the department of justice; in 1945-6 when the prime minister of Canada, Mackenzie King, personally gave it to the president of the United States. No matter how much more is discovered, the names are pretty much the same, with a little addition here and there.

• • •

AND THIS MUST BE understood: what we are dealing with is: 1. espionage; 2. neglect of duty; 3. violation of the oath of office; 4. condoning espionage and protecting spies to avoid exposure of error in high places. This country has not outlawed the Communist party, and being a member of it is neither a misdemeanor nor a felony and can only be made so not by private judgment but by law. This must be recognized if we are not to go haywire about these cases.

Old Enough To Be New

From The New York Sun

Like anecdotes, some expressions have a way of disappearing from sight for years and then popping up in a new environment with a counterfeit appearance of newness. It must have been an innocent and young newspaper man who credited President Truman with "coining a new description" when he called it "the late unpleasantness." This phrase was in hard service for many years as a euphemism for the Civil War, but it received an honorable discharge from the American vocabulary when the battles of 1861-1865 were no longer in the forefront of the American mind. As a man well steeped in American history, Mr. Truman certainly knew what the phrase meant when he used it and doubtless expected his hearers to know without explanation. But there are some things that are so old that they are new and the President thus stood charged with coining when he was only circulating old coins.

"Wigs for Health"

LONDON—(AP) — There's a run on the market for wigs—and it has the government worried.

Bald-headed men—and women—are taking advantage of Britain's new free health service and applying for more than 200 wigs a week. They come without cost under the health plan.

The country's 23 wigmakers figure the government can expect a demand for 100,000 a year at a cost of $40 a head. That's $4,000,000 out of the government's pocket.

What's more, wig-wearers are entitled to have one wig cleaned and dressed every two months at a cost to the government of about $400,000 every year.

Commented a wigmaker: "The government is shocked. The trouble is that people who have been satisfied with one wig for years now are cashing in and getting two."

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Understanding Parent

It had become apparent to Elmer and through this week and the next he noted their preference for the kids and observed their actions and the kiddies were suffering from parental neglect. The cause was a year of guns and gridiron and cowboy outfits and Indian warbonnets. The little dears asked for no presents, but the instruments of carnage and the chief interest. One needed merely to observe them in the yard taking cover behind trees and fence, making forays with weird warwhoops to know where lay the big kick in their playthings. Yet it was clear that something was missing.

• • •

Make-believe pistols in holster and arm were not enough. You could tell by the ferocity of their maneuvers that they chafed under the restraint. So Elmer Twitchell called the kids in and said, "Children, your hearts desire is quite clear. You want the real thing. You crave to perform like the cowboys. Injun braves and warriors of all times. Your mother and I have decided to make a special concession. You may go out and lay seige to the community. Ambush the neighbors. Enjoy yourself with a few scalpings. But be back at twelve so mother won't be delayed with lunch."

• • •

The faces of the little dears lit up. "You mean we can really use our air rifles anyway we want to, and our bows and arrows and everything," they exclaimed.

"The joys of childhood are the joys of childhood," Elmer sighed. "Gwan out and have fun."

"Can we scalp Mr. and Mrs. Foobley?" cried Little Edgar.

"By all means," agreed Elmer. He never liked the Foobleys much anyhow.

• • •

"And old Mr. Gwinnup?"

"No, he lives too far away. Just scalp people who live within two blocks of home."

"Can I take my air rifle and shoot anybody I want to?" asked Mortimer, aged six.

"In view of the fact that you have been a real good boy, yes."

"And can we shoot arrows at passing automobiles?"

"Why not? Christmas comes but once a year," Elmer replied.

• • •

"Can we shoot through house windows, too?" asked Minnie, aged seven, who had appropriated a cowboy six-shooter.

"How about it, mom?" Elmer asked Mrs. Twitchell.

"Minnie has been a very good little girl. Let her do it," said Mrs. Twitchell.

"But only through the windows on three sides of any one house," cautioned Elmer. "Don't have all your fun in one day. You should save something for tomorrow."

• • •

"Can we ambush Miss Sputterkins, the school teacher?" asked Edgar. "Just like in the last of the Mohicans."

"If she's outdoors. But no setting fire to her house to flush her, even if she did give you a bad report card," agreed Elmer.

The kids gathered up their weapons, and started forth, with joy in their eyes. Suddenly Mortimer turned. "Popper, can we take your shotgun along?" he asked.

Elmer had to think fast. He didn't want to cramp the children's style.

"No, not this year. You're only six. Maybe next Christmas when you're seven," he compromised.

• • •

Mrs. Twitchell and Elmer watched as the little dears romped down across the yard, weapons in air.

"Isn't it wonderful to be a child," sighed Mrs. Twitchell.

"Wonderful," agreed Elmer as an arrow came through the window and sank into his left shoulder. "Gosh, the kids next door must be out PLAYING WITH THEIR CHRISTMAS THINGS, TOO."

Secret Session

By Truman Twill

One of the things that Santa brought for Christmas this year is going to lead to trouble if someone isn't careful. It's a super deluxe carving knife in a special case with a built-in whetstone, and the trouble will happen if someone says, "Why don't you use your new knife and carve the meat at the table, lambikins?"

Let's get this straight.

Lambikins has no objections to the new knife. It's just what he always wanted, and something horrible will happen to the first lame-brain who gets caught whittling wood with it, or opening a jar of preserves. But Lambikins, speaking in behalf or 99 out of 100 men in this country, does not like to carve meat at the table.

It is not a thing to be done before an audience. It is too brutal, the way 99 out of 100 men do it. Maybe the 100th one can make it as adroit and slick as an appendectomy, but that will take some proving too. Fundamentally, meat is meant to be eaten, not to be dissected in front of consumers.

There is nothing pretty about the process of separating it into its component parts. It is just as unappetizing in the long view to carve the stuff at the table as it would be to watch a butcher kill the source of the various cuts in a meat market. The butcher is too smart to do that, and so is Lambikins.

Just hand us the new knife and leave the room. Draw the shades and lock the doors. Don't get curious about anything until the all-clear signal is given. Put your faith in Lambikins, who may not be associated in any way with the college of surgeons, or even with the meat-cutters local, but who can feint and parry with the best of them in secret session when no one is watching.

But not before an audience. It's nobody's business what the host does to the meat between the time it leaves the oven and the time it gets to the table. Maybe it bounces off the floor. Maybe it has to be braced with a knee, or possibly a foot. Maybe it has to be tied down with a piece of string to keep it from turning.

Catch-as-catch-can carving, which is the kind 99 out of 100 men practice, is no sight for women and children. It is something to make even a hearty man turn pale when the bout is close and the holds become lethal. Bones crunch and the air is full of this and that. All is fair, as in love and war, neither of which resembles carving, more than superficially.

Close the door and have faith. What goes on between the man with the knife and the food about to be carved is a privileged relationship.

Just the carver, and the implement alone in a quiet room. Touche! Take that. And that. And that! And have another slice of white meat, won't you?

ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT REPLIES TO CHARGES

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. Dec 30—(AP)—Elliott Roosevelt has made his reply to what he calls the "accusations and insinuations" concerning his wife's cut wrist.

He says he wants these points made clear:

His actress-wife Faye Emerson cut herself accidentally.

There was no family disagreement at the time.

Roosevelt held a news conference in the courthouse here yesterday shortly after he was questioned by Dutchess county District Attorney W. Vincent Grady, who later declared the matter closed.

"I appeared here voluntarily," Roosevelt said, "because the press has made so many accusations and insinuations. I came here to clarify the situation and to put to rest insinuations that she (his wife) tried to commit suicide, that the wound was self-inflicted or that someone else may have inflicted it."

Roosevelt said there was "no family disagreement" and that Dutchess county Sheriff C. Fred Close was "completely wrong in stating that there was disagreement."

The 31-year-old Miss Emerson suffered the cut early Sunday following a family Christmas gathering at the couple's Hyde Park home.

Roosevelt said he, his brother, Franklin D. Jr., and Dr. H. Sherman Hirst of Hyde Park took her to a Poughkeepsie hospital, where eight stitches were taken in the wound.

"Her injury was minor," said Roosevelt, "and her life was never in danger."

Both Roosevelt and his wife said after the accident that she had accidentally cut her wrist on a loose razor when reaching inside a drawer for some aspirin.

CHAMBERS REVEALS NEW SPY EVIDENCE

BALTIMORE, Dec. 30—(AP)—Whittaker Chambers met with Reps. Mundt (R-SD) and Nixon (R-Cal) on Chambers' Maryland farm yesterday and under oath disclosed new names and more detailed information connected with espionage activities in the government 10 years ago, the Baltimore Sun said today.

In a special article by William Knighton, Jr., of its Washington bureau, the Sun quoted Mundt as saying Chambers had furnished enough fresh leads to "keep the committee and the staff constantly at work for six months or a year."

The two members of the house un-American activities committee, with Robert P. Stripling, its chief investigator, a stenographer and other committee aides, drove out to the admitted ex-Communist agent's farm near Westminster the newspaper said.

For five hours, Mundt said, they let Chambers tell his complete story in his own way, unhurriedly, and almost without interruption, Knighton wrote.

POSTAL

$1.50 COD fees will be raised five cents in each classification with a new minimum of 25 cents. Insurance fees now three to 25 cents will be five to 30 cents.

Third Class Mail

There also will be radical changes in third class mail but this will affect the average patron only in the number of advertising circulars which will stuff his mailbox. This class covers circulars and small merchandise under eight ounces and special instructions have been sent to merchants and printers using this class of mail.

In order to take advantage of the lower bulk rates for third class mail, users must register at a cost of $10 and must take out an annual permit costing an additional $10. Printers must have a separate permit for each customer for whom they do mailing.

The local postoffice has been informed that a new six cent air mail stamp will be issued Jan. 18 at Washington and the new four cent air mail postal card will be issued on Jan. 10. Special delivery stamps in the new rate are not yet available. Post offices will use their present stocks of old stamps, affixing additional stamps to bring the total up to the new rate, Postmaster Homer D. Cole said today.

The postoffice department estimates that increased rates will raise the postal revenue $124,000,000 a year to help reduce the postoffice deficit now running at the rate of $550,000,000 a year.

The next congress is expected to make further adjustments especially in second class mail which includes newspapers and magazines. Further increases also are expected in third class mail and in parcel post.

NANKING, Dec. 30—(UP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Premier Sun Fo summoned top Nationalist field commanders to another conference today as Chinese press reports indicated the Communists had occupied a 35-mile stretch of the Yangtze river 75 miles from Nanking.

Reliable sources said the top-level conferences held at the residences of Chiang and Sun, had brought no decision yet on whether the Nationalists should seek peace or Chiang should resign his leadership.

Government spokesman Shen Chang-chuan said only that the field commanders were here "for consultation" and that Sun would make a policy report to the legislative yuan in "due course."

Farm Prosperity Dips to 1942 Level

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—(AP)—The farmer isn't doing as well financially as he has been for the past six years.

"Parity ratio"—the yardstick for measuring farm prosperity—has dipped to the lowest level since September, 1942, the agriculture department announced late yesterday.

Parity ratio is based on the relation between prices farmers get for the things they sell and the prices of the things they buy. It includes an allowance for interest and taxes.

As of mid-December, the parity ratio stood at 109—one point higher than the September, 1942, figure. The December ratio was a drop of one point from mid-November, 13 points below January, 1948 and 24 points under the record high of 133 in October, 1946.

Average prices received by farmers in mid-December were the lowest since February, 1947.

WATER

The Prospect plant will comprise two driven wells and pumping system similar to the LaRue plant. A water softening system will be a part of the plant installation. System of mains calls for installation of 34 hydrants with water pressure afforded through an 100,000 gallon capacity standpipe.

Rate to consumer has been set under present plans at $30 per year, Mayor Fred Gehm said. This would give the consumer up to 9,000 gallons a quarter at $7.50 per quarter in comparison to a Marion city charge which would figure at $9 a quarter for 4,500 gallons, he stated.

Church Excommunicates Cardinal's Persecutors

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 30—(AP)—A Vatican source said today all Roman Catholics who had anything to do with the arrest of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary, have been excommunicated.

The Communist-run government of Hungary announced the arrest of Cardinal Mindszenty last Monday and accused him of plotting against the government, spying, treason and black market money dealings. It said Mindszenty was a "sponsor of Hungarian fascism." Ten other church figures also are held.

Excommunication cuts members of the church off from all sacraments. As a punishment, it is surpassed in church penalties only by the pronouncement of "anathema" an ecclesiastical curse.

New School Plans Under Study Here

New school consolidation recommendations during the three-day convention of the Ohio Education Association which ended yesterday at Columbus virtually parallel school consolidation proposals already under consideration for two-thirds of the county school districts here, D. T. Mills county school superintendent reported today following his return from the convention.

Non-teaching employes salary adjustments and a $3.50 per pupil increase for school operations proposed in the 20 point OEA legislative program for 1949 would add about $20,000 annually to Marion city school's operation cost if passed by the legislature, Lester I. Dickey, city school superintendent said today.

The new OEA school consolidation proposal which would have no school district in Ohio with fewer than 1,500 students, would divide Marion county into three large school districts, instead of the 12 now operating here, Mr. Mills said.

Control of county schools would then fall under three boards instead of the present 12. The possibility of "quite a bit of saving" in school operations probably would result if the OEA plan were introduced here, Mr. Mills said.

Some consolidation of a similar nature was already under consideration here.

Green Camp, Pleasant, Waldo, and Prospect school districts have already agreed to consider favorable a consolidation for high school purposes only, Mr. Mills said.

A similar consolidation for closer coordination of operations in the face of rising school costs is now under discussion between boards representing Caledonia, Tully, Scott, and Grand Prairie school districts, he added.

Only school districts in the west part of the county, LaRue, New Bloomington, Montgomery, Morral and the remaining sections of Marion township school district in that area have no consolidation plans under discussion at the present time, Mr. Mills said.

School authorities while favoring the plan, have dim hopes its far reaching changes will get through the legislature. Failure of the consolidation plan as proposed in the OEA convention would have no effect on proposed consolidation plans of school districts now under discussion in Marion county, Mr. Mills said.

WORK OUT PLAN FOR STOP RUSSIA POLICY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—(AP)—The government set to work today on final plans for a great new extension of America's "stop Russia" policy—including a multi-billion dollar program of military aid to western Europe.

Officials hope to complete the planning project promptly. Their recommendations are expected to provide the basis for President Truman's foreign policy address to congress, probably next month.

An announcement late yesterday disclosed Mr. Truman has ordered the State department to coordinate all planning of foreign military assistance programs. The department then must mesh these with American economic assistance like that going to Europe's Marshall plan countries.

The military projects cover aid to Greece and Turkey, which may run around $350,000,000 next year; any arms to China (the military cost of China aid this year is $125,000,000) and the projected gift of guns, tanks and other military equipment to the western European countries—principally Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The European rearmament program was given a powerful shove by Secretary of Defense Forrestal last night. He warned that its cost "may necessitate hard decisions by our people."

But, he added: "In my own mind, the choice is clear, we must do all in our power to re-create the confidence and hope of Europe."

U.S. Arrival of Ice Cap Airmen Delayed

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—(AP)—The arrival here of a party of fliers including some of those rescued in Greenland has been delayed until tomorrow, an Air Force spokesman said today.

He added even the scheduled arrival tomorrow should be qualified by "weather permitting." The metropolitan area had rain and low-hanging clouds today but clearing weather was forecast later in the day.

Earlier, it had been announced at Westover Field, Mass., that a group of 12 fliers, including rescuers and those rescued from a Greenland ice cap, would reach New York some time today.

GAS BLAMED FOR DEATHS

FOSTORIA, O., Dec. 30—(AP)—Coroner W. H. Benner blamed a blocked gas stove vent today for the carbon monoxide deaths of Mrs. Kathryn McLaughlin, 92, and her son-in-law, David Y. Preble, 72. They were found dead Tuesday night. Preble's wife, Maude, 72, remained in a serious condition today.

President Truman Named "Man of the Year"

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—(AP)—President Truman is Time magazine's "man of the year" for 1948. It is the second time he has been so honored by the news magazine.

Time said in its Jan. 3 issue—released today—that the President's election "was a personal victory almost without historical parallel; a victory of the fighting spirit."

Mr. Truman was selected by Time as "man of the year" for 1945, the year of the atom bomb. The magazine said it chose Mr. Truman then because the President "somewhat unwittingly, somewhat against his own will, became more than any other man responsible for the bomb, its use in 1945 and its future."

Kid Canaday Claims He's Mayor Again

POMEROY, O., Dec. 30—(AP)—Delmar A. Canaday, who resigned as mayor of Pomeroy while under suspension by the governor, declared himself the proper mayor of Pomeroy today and said his resignation was invalid.

The colorful former prizefighter walked into the mayor's office at the Pomeroy city hall today and said to Police Chief Walter Wolfe: "Walter, get up. I want to sit down there. I'm the mayor."

The mayor, known as "Kayo Kid Canaday" in the days when he fought 200 professional fights and claimed the West Virginia welterweight title, said his resignation was invalid because "I couldn't resign while under suspension."

He said his suspension expired Dec. 22. Gov. Thomas J. Herbert ordered Canaday suspended Nov. 22 for 30 days on eight charges of misconduct.

Milk Agreement For Columbus Revised

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—(AP)—The Agriculture department revised the milk marketing agreement for the Columbus, Ohio, area, yesterday.

Two Wheels Off Track on A. C. & Y. Cutoff.

Special to The Star

CAREY, O., Dec. 30—Two drive wheels of a locomotive pulling Chesapeake and Ohio freight train No. 93 derailed at 7:4 m. today near Carey while the C. & O. train was transferring a string of boxcars to the Akron, Canton and Youngstown railroad cutoff. The train was westbound on the A. C. and Y. cutoff at the time of the derailment and well away from any main line tracks.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30—(UP)—The Navy announced today the body of Ruth Farnsworth, 27, civilian employe on Guam who was slain Dec. 13, would arrive in San Francisco aboard the transport USS Thomas Jefferson Jan. 6.

The Navy said the ship left Guam Dec. 27. Also aboard the transport was S. Sgt. Sterling McGinnis, Roundhead, O., who was Miss Farnsworth's fiance. Sgt. McGinnis was granted a special 10-day furlough to serve as escort for the body.

Miss Farnsworth's slayers have not yet been found, although island authorities and military investigators have questioned hundreds of suspects. The attractive girl, called "the most beautiful woman on Guam," was kidnaped from the jade shop where she worked and was dragged to a nearby jungle where she was stripped, attacked and beaten to death.
